

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF
AMERICAN JEWISH HISTORY

Dear Friends,

The National Museum of American Jewish History (NMAJH) welcomes groups from across the Delaware Valley and far beyond for memorable experiences at the Museum. If your residents, neighbors, or members have not yet seen the NMAJH – a place where people of all backgrounds can learn about American history, immigration, and our freedoms – it would be our pleasure to welcome your group this Winter with a special discount.

From now until February 29, 2012, we are offering $2 off our already-discounted, group admission rate for groups like yours. For this special promotion, senior adults in groups of 15 or more people will be admitted for:

- Just $7 for admission to Museum only (walk-in admission for seniors is $11)
- Just $13 for admission and guided tour at
- As always, one group leader is admitted free.

The Museum is easy to access by bus, shuttle or van. Guests may be dropped off right in front of the Museum's covered entrance on Market Street for maximum convenience and comfort.

Spend a day or spend a couple hours – the Museum has a Kosher Café, a fantastic array of films to see, a beautiful Museum Store, and more than 1,000 artifacts on display. Guided tours typically last 90 minutes, and we recommend that groups spend no fewer than two hours inside the Museum.

Please call Group Sales right away to take advantage of this one-time offer: 215.923.3811 x. 141; offer is limited by availability of group visit slots.

Give your group a chance to reminisce with history they know and broaden their horizons with a deeper understanding of our shared, American past.

Thank you,

Megan Helzner
Group Experiences and Sales Manager

"Liberty Enlightening the World"
Root & Tinker, New York, ca. 1884
Library of Congress